PHASE 1 DIOCESAN-WIDE PARISH
PLANNING PROCESS BEGINS
SEPTEMBER 2010

Last week's bulletin insert addressed the good news in parish planning. This week's questions are about wisdom and prayer.

What is the "grass-roots" approach to parish planning all about?

No one better knows the situation of local communities than the people who live in them. The local knowledge and wisdom of parishioners is vital to work out various scenarios of inter-parish cooperation. It will be the responsibility of local leadership, guided by the planning process, to prayerfully construct the best possible plan to present to the Bishop in Advent 2011.

How is prayer part of the planning process?

The Planning Commission begins each of its meetings with a long period of prayer. Many times it takes the form of prayerfully listening to the words of the Sunday Gospel and discerning the guidance of the Holy Spirit. The wisdom given by the Holy Spirit is indeed amazing. Prayer is incorporated into each step of the planning process.

How has "transparency" been part of the planning process?

The link to the ongoing work of the Planning Commission is on the diocesan website. You will find minutes of meetings and other information listed. There have also been numerous articles in The Catholic Messenger informing parishioners of its work.

Next week's question is:

How do we deal with change?

All parish leaders are being asked to attend one of the following seven area meetings (about 2 hours long) which will be held throughout the diocese to present the planning process. Parish leadership includes pastors, parochial vicars, parish life administrators, parish lay trustees, all members of the parish pastoral council, all members of the parish finance council, staff (DRE, youth minister, secretary, bookkeeper, etc.) and commission chairpersons.

Sunday, Sept. 26 St. Mary, Pella - 5:00 pm

Sunday, Oct. 3 St. Paul the Apostle, Davenport - 3:00 pm

Sunday, Oct. 3 St. Joseph, DeWitt - 5:00 pm

Phase 2 will include grassroots meetings at the parish level for all parishioners.

The Adult Corner

For the Twenty-Third Sunday in Ordinary Time (September 5) "Which of you...does not first sit down and calculate the cost?" How would you calculate the cost of being a disciple of Jesus? What sacrifices have you had to make as of this date? What future expenses do you envision for yourself? Has it cost you any relationships? Have you lost anything because of your beliefs? How do you calculate the personal outlay required to raise a child to be a disciple of Jesus?

Labor Day: Bishop Murphy Calls for New Social Contract

With millions unemployed and U.S. workers experiencing tragedies such as mining deaths in West Virginia and the oil rig explosion and subsequent oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico, Americans "must seek to protect the life and dignity of each worker in a renewed and robust economy," said Bishop William Murphy of Rockville Centre, New York. Bishop Murphy addressed these issues in the 2010 Labor Day Statement of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB), entitled "A New 'Social Contract' for Today's 'New Things,'" which can be found online in English (www.usccb.org/sdwp/national/labor_day_2010.pdf) and Spanish (www.usccb.org/sdwp/national/labor_day_2010_spanish.pdf).

Bishop Murphy, Chairman of the USCCB Committee on Domestic Justice and Human Development, compared the challenges faced by today's workers to the changing society of the Industrial Revolution addressed by Pope Leo XIII in the 1891 encyclical, Rerum Novarum (Of New Things). "America is undergoing a rare economic transformation, shedding jobs and testing safety nets as the nation searches for new ways to govern and grow our economy," said Bishop Murphy. "Workers need a new 'social contract.'" He said that creating new jobs would require new investments, initiative and creativity in the economy.

Bishop Murphy also drew on the teachings of Pope Benedict XVI, which call for placing the human person at the center of economic life and emphasize the role of civil society and mediating institutions such as unions in pursuing the common good. "Workers need to have a real voice and effective protections in economic life," said Bishop Murphy. "The market, the state, and civil society, unions and employers all have roles to play and they must be exercised in creative and fruitful interrelationships. Private action and public policies that strengthen families and reduce poverty are needed. New jobs with just wages and benefits must be created so that all workers can express their dignity through the dignity of work and are able to fulfill God's call to us all to be co-creators. A new social contract, which begins by honoring work and workers, must be forged that ultimately focuses on the common good of the entire human family."
